Fires come close to home

Firefighters being briefed at Llangothlin prior to tackling the Whans Road fire on Tuesday afternoon

As we go to press on Tuesday afternoon, Guyra and surrounding areas remain on alert due to a bush fire emergency. Residents woke on Tuesday morning to a thick blanket of smoke and warnings of a horrendous day ahead.

It was part of a State wide emergency, with Premier Gladys Berejiklian declaring a State of Emergency ahead of the predicted catastrophic fire conditions in many areas of the State.

On Monday evening emergency services were preparing for a worst-case scenario ahead of the predicted worsening in weather conditions.

This worst case scenario meant Guyra was put on alert due to the potential spread of fires already burning in the Wandsworth, Ben Lomond and Llangothlin area.

The extreme fire danger also resulted in the closure of all local public schools and residents from the Kolora Aged Care facility were relocated to Inverell as a precaution. The Guyra MPS was also on stand-by to evacuate if necessary.

The fire emergency began last week when a fire began near the Single State Forest near Wandsworth. Strong winds on Friday resulted in a number of spot fires, the most significant of which started near Whans Road Llangothlin. This fire is believed to have started from embers which travelled around 10km from the Wandsworth blaze.

Ben Lomond residents were asked to prepare to evacuate as the blaze headed in their direction. On Monday Ben Lomond Public School was closed due to the fires and on Tuesday was joined by Guyra Central, Bald Blair, Black Mountain and Ebor Public Schools. They will remain closed on Wednesday.

Guyra Preschool & Long Day Care Centre has also been closed until further notice. St Mary of the Angels Catholic Primary School remains open.

The Wandsworth and Llangothlin fires have burnt out an area of more than 10,000 hectares and were continuing to spread ahead of the predicted weather change on Tuesday afternoon.

Armidale Regional Council established a Guyra Information Hub at the Community Hall to assist residents. A meeting place was also set up in Armidale at Kent House, on Faulkner Street, as an option for residents who self-relocate from Guyra. All outdoor crews were redeployed to assist with fire control measures.

Anyone requiring assistance with emergency fodder, emergency water or livestock or animal evacuations should call the NSW Agricultural and Animal Services Hotline on 1800 814 647.

Amazing ladies of the CWA get to work

DROUGHT AID donations arrived in Guyra on Monday and CWA members are busy packing and preparing hampers for distribution; Lending a hand were Leonie Hawkins, Daria Hadley, Dot Vickery and Del Healey (above) and Lorraine Sewell and Jan Day (below)

CWA members this week took delivery of six pallets of donated items, which will be packed in to hampers and distributed to farming families affected by the drought and recent bush fires.

The donations come from the Drought Aid - Feed a Farmer drive organised by Jaclyn Bold. The CWA, in conjunction with The Hub have already distributed hampers in the local community, which have been welcomed as a symbol of hope by those that are doing it tough.

Leonie Hawkins from the Guyra evening branch of the CWA said that if nothing else the drought has highlighted the generosity that exists in the community and the willingness of people to help out their neighbours.

"There is a sense of relief to know that there are people in the cities wanting to help, people who are thinking of their country cousins and who care about what is happening in the bush."

"It's not really about what is in the hampers we hand out, but more that there is a hamper," Leonie said.

"It is a symbol that says that someone cares, someone is thinking of you and appreciates what you do."

"It is also an opportunity for farmers to take some time out from the daily grind and an opening for us to spread the message of what help is available and how it can be accessed."

A hug in the box for the bush

Jaclyn Bold runs a caravan and camping business in the Sutherland Shire in Sydney. It is a long way from Guyra, but family connections in the area made her all too aware of the struggles of life on the land during the current drought, Following an online chat with one of those family members she made a midnight decision to see what she could do to help, launching a fundraising campaign to raise money for drought relief.

Drought Aid – Feed a Farmer was born and since then she has coordinated donations of not just money, but also food, personal items, toys and so much more. She has also teamed up with Guyra CWA Evening Branch and the Rotary Clubs of Armidale and Guyra to distribute the donations in the Armidale, Guyra and Glen Innes districts.

Her enthusiasm has spread and others have come on board, assisting with transport and organising fundraisers. Last week she undertook a road trip with her father Gary McFarlane. They travelled up the New England Highway hoping to inspire others to do the same.

Along the way she called in to drought affected towns, buying from local shops and encouraging others to follow in her footsteps.

“Sometimes in the city people are oblivious to what is going on in the bush, but I think that is changing and they really want to help.” Jaclyn said.

“Getting out into the bush and spending time and money is something anyone can do and I’m encouraging customers and friends to take the inland route next time they head north and stop in at some of these small towns along the way.”

“Farmers are doing it tough, but so are the towns – everyone is feeling the pinch and help is available to anyone who needs it,” she said.

“Delivering a hamper is our way of sending a ‘hug in a box’ and we want everyone to feel the love.”

Arriving in Guyra last Friday, she met with representatives of the CWA, the Hub and NSW Farmers President James Jackson.

Jaclyn praised ‘the amazing ladies from the CWA’ who are packaging the donations ready for distribution to families.

Also with the help of the CWA she boosted the economy by purchasing $1000 in vouchers from local businesses which will also be distributed in the community.

Jaclyn hopes to continue the campaign as long as help is needed, and says that as long as people support her, she will continue to support the towns. You can follow her campaign on facebook <https://www.facebook.com/droughtaid>

Mayor's Message

The resilience of residents in the Armidale region and surrounding districts is being tested like never before.

The worst drought on record is now being compounded by the associated impact of devastating bushfires that have caused considerable damage and look set to loom over us throughout a particularly hot, dry summer.

Our thoughts go out to all the families impacted by the fires, as well as all emergency service personnel enduring hellish conditions and putting their welfare on the line to protect us all. I'm also mindful of the stress these circumstances are having on us all, the constant threat of being on alert and prepared for the possibility of fires – not to mention the day-to-day reminders about our water shortages.

Equally, I'm heartened by the resourcefulness and solidarity our community has demonstrated time and again. Our community is teeming with clever and enterprising people, a point further proven by the response from residents and businesses to our water restrictions and conservation efforts. I thank you all for your terrific efforts in reducing our water consumption.

It is this talent, community pride and our support for one another that will ensure we will emerge from this crisis in a strong position.

While it's vital to closely monitor the threats and take all possible action to address them, it is also valuable to focus on the positives – the victories we have along the way, the resilience we demonstrate, how it bolsters our resolve for a prosperous Armidale region and how it prompts us to unite and rise above the community rifts on comparatively minor issues.

That resilience includes individuals taking all available steps to protect their health and safety.

Residents are strongly encouraged to make use of the Fires Near Me service on the Rural Fire Service website. Its app can instantaneously notify you of any fires in the area and their up-to-date status.

The RFS has declared an extreme fire danger for the Armidale region this week, while parts of our State are facing catastrophic fire conditions. While there are a number of agencies working tirelessly to protect our communities, it's also up to individuals to be alert to help avert disaster.

Similarly, I encourage people to take precautions to protect themselves from the bushfire smoke that has clouded our region on a number of occasions in recent weeks.

Air quality monitors in Armidale are showing alarming levels of smoke pollution. On days when the level of smoke haze is high, health experts recommended avoiding being outside for extended periods and breathing in the smoke. People are advised to cut back on outdoor physical activities and some residents have started wearing air filter masks to protect themselves from respiratory effects.

The challenges confronting our region have come under the national spotlight in recent times. Let's make it an opportunity to demonstrate how tough, enterprising and inspiring we can be.

Murray said.

"Families of Kolora Residents have been contacted and we maintain open communication with them as to our safe return date, once all fires have been contained."

If any family members of residents have any concerns, they are invited to contact McLean Care for further information and updates.

Variety Postie Bike Dash stops at Bald Blair

On Thursday November 7th, Bald Blair Public School hosted over 80 people as part of the Variety Postie Bike Dash annual fundraising event. Variety is a children's charity that aims to provide practical equipment and experiences to children who are sick, disadvantaged or have special needs. The event attracts riders from all over the state.

The Bald Blair P&C catered for the event in their usual outstanding manner, providing a range of lunch options, together with tea, coffee, cakes, slices and fruit salad.

62 postie bikes made their way through the school gate on Thursday morning. The students were all very excited to see the bikes arrive and to chat with the riders. The riders generously donated hats, bubble blowing wands and other toys to the students throughout the day.

As part of their fundraising efforts, Variety donated $4027 to the school for the purchase of Lego Spike robotics kits. The kits are designed to teach children skills in technology, coding, critical and creative thinking, collaborative learning and problem solving.

The six-day charity ride started in Tamworth and traveled through Tingha, Tenterfield, Tabulam, Casino, Lismore, Coutts Crossing, Glen Innes, Bald Blair and Armidale before arriving back in Tamworth on Friday November 8th.

Drone course a great success

The one day drone course run by NSW Farmers in conjunction with NSW Tafe was a big success.

The day was booked out with 14 participants learning the practical hands on skills of using drone technology as well as CASA regulations that govern how they are used.

The Armidale Regional Council kindly donated the use of the show grounds for the day which was greatly appreciated and a superb lunch was catered for by the Ben Lomond Catholic ladies and men. Guyra branch of NSW Farmers would like to thank everyone who helped make the day a success

Broad ranging package for farmers

The Federal Government's latest drought support package will provide some stimulus for long term recovery measures, according to NSW Farmers.

NSW Farmers President James Jackson said news of an additional 100 gigalitres of water to be made available to farmers along the Murray at a discounted rate to grow fodder is a welcome step.

"The extension of the Drought Communities Program and redirection of $200million from the Building Better Regions Fund means that Councils will have increased opportunity for cash injections across towns and small communities, improving local amenities and infrastructure while stimulating local employment," Mr Jackson said.

"However, the centrepiece of this latest package for farmers is low interest loans that do have to be paid back. There will be farmers who do not have the capacity to do that."

"The two year interest and repayment free period and extending the concessional loans to agriculture dependent businesses are welcome adjustments that NSW Farmers have pushed for."

"As farming activity slows agriculture dependent businesses struggle to keep going and maintain skilled employees. Once these businesses close, people leave country towns, and it is difficult to bring them back."

"The Government must reassure applicants that they will streamline paperwork, minimise red-tape and ensure Banks are proactive in their response to farmers and small businesses."

"The announcement, coupled with last month's commitment to improve access to the Farm Household Allowance and increase the number of Rural Financial Councillors is welcome – but these must start to be available within weeks not months."

"Maintaining essential services, especially access to education, across regional and remote communities is critical. We acknowledge the $10 million included in this announcement to assist parents with education costs and particularly the $5 million for regional early childhood services. Access to early learning is an essential building block, increases socialisation and reduces isolation for children and parents."

"There is still more to do. The Federal Government policy in relation to competition laws, electricity prices and cost of capital has impacted agriculture's ability to be resilient in this drought."

"NSW Farmers has also been calling on the State and Federal Governments to support local Council rate rebates, direct support to maintain on-farm employment, progress risk insurance products, improve certainty of water access and maintain essential health services."

Weekly Wool Sales

After a few weeks of solid gains the Australian wool market again met buyer resistance. For the second time in the last seven selling weeks the Northern Region Indicator has jumped to around 1630 cents only to be pulled back again.

In a positive sign that this week's pullback may be overdone the Fremantle market selling after the Eastern seaboard closed managed some gains on the final day. The Northern region suffered a 17 cent drop on the first of sales with a further 26 cent reduction on the final day.

Resistance to the falling prices emerged again with the national passed in rate jumping to 17.5%. With over 8% of the offering withdrawn prior to sale this left just 28,112 bales sold for the week.

Major buyers included Techwool, PJ Morris & Tianyu. The Australian Wool Production Forecasting Committee has moved its next round of meetings forward by 1 month with State committees meeting this week. This is in response to the fall in AWTA test data for the season to date.

The most recent forecast by the committee was a 5% decline in national production for the 2019/20 season. AWTA data is currently showing an 11% decline.

Paying tribute on Remembrance Day

A short ceremony was held outside Guyra's RSL Hall on Monday for Remembrance Day, honouring Australians who died in conflict since World War I. While the numbers attending the ceremony was small, the main aim of the service was to acknowledge the significance of the Armistice which ended World War I.

RSL sub branch President Hans Hietbrink said that it is easy for people to overlook Remembrance Day and to not observe the minute of silence at 11am because for most, Remembrance Day is a normal working day.

"Many people go about their activities without giving Remembrance Day a thought until they hear the Last Post, or see others gathered solemnly in silence or notice the National Flag at half-mast," he said.

"Then they think, "Oh Yeah, it's Remembrance Day," but by then, the minute is over."

A minute's silence at 11am

RSL sub branch President Hans Hietbrink led the Remembrance Day service on Monday in Guyra marks the exact time in 1918 that the guns on the Western Front fell silent after more than four years of continuous warfare.

"The moment when hostilities ceased on the Western Front became universally accepted as the time when we remember those who died in World War I," Mr Hietbrink said.

"In more recent years, it was changed to Remembrance Day so that we can remember and pay tribute to those who have lost their lives in all wars and conflicts."

"Today we remember them and all others who have died and suffered in armed conflicts around the world."

Repairs for Karoola Bridge

Major maintenance work on an Old Armidale Road bridge has begun. Decking and kerbs will be replaced on the Karoola Bridge, west of Guyra, with work expected to be completed on Thursday 14 November. It is the first of two timber bridges receiving a significant overhaul work next week.

Once maintenance on Karoola Bridge is completed, work will start to replace decking and kerbs on Burns Gully Bridge, on Platform Road in Kelly's Plains. Traffic delays of up to 15 minute will be necessary during the work on both bridges.

A side track will be available during the Karoola Bridge works but will only be suitable for four-wheel-drive vehicles with high clearance.

Both projects are part of Council's Bridge Safety Program to extend the lives of a number of timber bridges and prevent the need to apply load limit restrictions for vehicles using these structures. The Safety Program is funded through the Federal Government's Roads to Recovery Program.

Repairs are underway this week on the Karoola Bridge on the Old Armidale Road

Midweek Golf

A couple of high scores this week with Neil Paine and Logan Beechey on 22, followed closely by Jim Betts on 20 and Jake Ellis, Jamie Williamson and Michael Kirk on 19.

Team scores show a big range of points. This is probably because only two or three players have played for the week for their team. Makes a difference if you get at least four scores in.

Extra points this week went to Sultans of Swing and Charged Up with all six players competing. Leading point score goes to Charged Up.

Men's Golf

The windy conditions on Sunday didn't deter over 30 golfers from playing in the Brian Lennon Memorial ambrrose. The winners were Tyson and Brandon Burey and runners up were Steve Kliendienst and Anthony Dittman. First nine winners were Ian Taylor and Len Stanley and the second nine went to Boyd Stanley and Tom Starr. Nearest to the pins were Mickey Shiner on the 7th and Boyd Stanley On the 10th and 18th, the long drive was won by Jake Ellis.

Congratulations must go to

Costa Sports Grants Open for applications

Costa Tomatoes has launched the Guyra Community Sports Grants Program for 2019. It is the second year that the program has operated and last year Costa provided funding to a number of sporting groups in the town, supporting them with purchases ranging from cricket balls to uniforms and travel expenses. Guyra cricket, tennis, hockey, rugby league and campdraft clubs all benefited from last year's grants program.

Guyra Cricket Club received $2500 to purchase balls, which is one of the club's biggest expenses each year and President James Stewart said that receiving the grant was a boost for the club.

"Without the grant we would have had to rely on fundraising to buy balls which cost around $60 to $70 each," he said. "This money took the pressure off our members and also meant we could direct club funds to other expenses which really helped us stay on track."

In launching this year's grants program, Costa's HR Coordinator Colleen Cutts said the aim of the program was to encourage sporting activity throughout the local area. With drought already impacting on the community the focus this year will be on supporting people off the land.

"Costa is committed to supporting sport in the Guyra region as we recognise the positive health and lifestyle benefits it provides to individual participants and the community as a whole," said Ms Cutts. "Farmers and their families are a key part of many sporting clubs and the grants will be available to provide relief from fees and purchase uniforms where needed."

The grants are available to individuals, teams and sporting clubs and may be used for equipment, infrastructure, uniforms, development and promotional activities. Costa will liaise with local Sports Council members to determine the successful recipients.

"Costa is thrilled to have the opportunity to work with the Guyra sporting community and look forward to providing a helping hand to as many applicants as we can,"

Ms Cutts said. "It is also a great opportunity for Costa to support the Play by the Rules initiative which aims to make sport inclusive, safe and fair.

"Above all else, our aim is to get more people involved in playing sport and leading a healthy and active lifestyle."

Applications need to be submitted online at <https://costagroup.curren-tjobs.com>. No hard copies will be accepted.

You can find out more about Play by the Rules at (<https://www.play-bytherules.net.au/>). For further information about the grants contact Colleen Cutts 0436 000 812
