Gearing up for milestone Lamb and Potato Festival

Guyra is set to come alive from January 14th to January 26th with the 2026 Guyra Lamb and Potato Festival getting underway. Organisers are promising a bigger, brighter celebration as the iconic event marks its 40th anniversary.

Held annually, the festival has become one of the New England's signature events, drawing visitors from across the region and beyond to experience the best of Guyra's world-class lamb and potatoes, alongside live entertainment and strong community spirit.

Festival president Steve Mephram said reaching the 40-year milestone was a proud moment for the town and everyone who has contributed to the festival's success over the decades.

"Forty years is a big milestone for the Lamb and Potato Festival," Mr Mephram said.

"It will start with a special dinner on Tuesday night to celebrate the anniversary and to thank the many people who have been involved over that time."

A number of new and enhanced features will highlight the anniversary celebrations. The festival pavilion has now been fully lined and the photo montage has been updated to showcase the festival's history across all 40 years. Adding to the visual appeal, local artist Kay Smith has been commissioned to paint three murals, which will adorn the pavilion throughout the festival.

At its heart, the festival continues to celebrate Guyra's proud agricultural heritage. The district is renowned for producing premium lamb and high-quality potatoes, and the event provides an opportunity to recognise the dedication of local producers while promoting the region as a key agricultural hub.

Despite a challenging season,

Mr Mephram said organisers had worked hard to ensure the festival could go ahead as planned.

"Lamb prices are almost double what they were last year and potatoes are in short supply and have also doubled in price," he said.

"We only secured our potato supply last week, but we're committed to keeping any price rises to a minimum for festival goers."

Visitors can expect a full complement of stallholders, with plenty to browse across food, crafts and local produce. A packed entertainment program will run throughout the festival, with stalls, food and music on offer every day for the 12 days of celebrations. Live performances will feature mainly local artists, with music scheduled for both lunchtime and evening sessions.

Popular attractions are also set to return, including the car show and shine in Guyra's main street on January 24th, the antique machinery field day on the final weekend, and the much-loved model trains, which will make a comeback this year after a few years away.

Preschool Class of 2025 celebrate graduation

On Wednesday, December 3rd, Guyra Preschool and Long Day Care Centre proudly celebrated the graduation of its latest cohort of students ready for big school.

"We had a delightful celebration for our precious children who are now ready to embark on their exciting journey to big school," said Preschool Coordinator Flick Williams.

"The evening was filled with smiles, laughter, and a few happy tears as we gathered to honour our little graduates. The children were beaming with pride, and it was truly heartwarming to see their excitement and eagerness for the adventures that lie ahead," she said.

"We enjoyed a slide show of their journey through preschool, heartfelt speeches, and of course, delicious treats to mark this special milestone.

"A huge thank you to everyone who made this day so memorable from the educators who have nurtured and guided our children, to the parents who have supported and encouraged them every step of the way. This celebration was a beautiful reminder of the strong and loving community we have built together."

EnergyCo

Have your say on the New England Renewable Energy Zone

EnergyCo is inviting feedback to help shape the delivery of the New England Renewable Energy Zone (REZ). Feedback will be used to inform how the government responds to potential impacts and delivers benefits for communities that are hosting critical energy projects.

Complete the survey on our new online portal

Visit energyco.nsw.gov.au/nerez (or scan the QR code below) to explore how we're working to balance project impacts and benefits for local communities, then share your feedback through a survey. The survey is open until Friday 30 January 2026 and will take around 10 minutes to complete.

You can also contact our team on the details below if you prefer to receive a paper copy.

Your input will help shape our plans – now and into the future – and ensures the REZ delivers real and lasting benefits for the region.

View the New England regional major infrastructure studies

To support the consultation period, EnergyCo has released a series of studies which address priority topics for REZ delivery including workforce accommodation, water and wastewater security, training and skills, local supply chain and waste and circular economy.

They consider the impacts of major projects in the New England region, including renewables and other industries, as well as opportunities that may arise from this significant investment in regional NSW. These studies are not intended to provide all the answers. They provide a common data point that will inform future strategies to address challenges and maximise opportunities.

The studies are the result of several months of consultation with councils, government agencies and industry to assess existing conditions and priority issues for the region.

For more information

To read the studies and complete our survey, visit the online portal at energyco.nsw.gov.au/nerez or scan the QR code. You can get in touch with our team at nerez@energyco.nsw.gov.au or by calling 1800 061 114 (toll free). We look forward to hearing from you.

The Guyra Craft Group will again be a feature, setting up in the Anglican Hall and opening daily from 9am to 4pm. Devonshire teas will be served each Saturday during the festival, adding another reason for visitors to stop and stay awhile.

Mr Mephram said the festival's success continues to rely heavily on volunteers, local businesses and community groups. "This festival isn't just about lamb and potatoes," he said. "It's about the people behind it - the farmers, families, businesses and volunteers who make Guyra such a vibrant and welcoming town."

With its unique blend of agriculture, entertainment and community connection, the 2026 Guyra Lamb and Potato Festival is shaping up to be a fitting celebration of 40 years of tradition in Guyra.

Guyra Central School has wrapped up a busy and memorable year, with the school community coming together to celebrate a period of growth and achievement for both students and staff.

Relieving Principal Tim Lloyd said 2025 had been a year to be proud of, with students showing dedication and resilience across a wide range of academic and personal pursuits.

"Throughout the year, our students have worked incredibly hard and achieved success in many different areas," Mr Lloyd said. "Every achievement, whether large or small, has contributed to making 2025 a truly rewarding year for our school."

One of the highlights of the year was the school's official Presentation Day Ceremony, which recognised outstanding achievements from Kindergarten through to Year 12.

"Our Presentation Day is a wonderful opportunity to acknowledge the efforts, commitment and growth of our students across all year groups," Mr Lloyd said. "Congratulations to all award recipients—you should be very proud of what you have accomplished."

During Term 4, Guyra Central School also ran its Transition to Kindergarten program, helping prepare the school's youngest learners for the start of their educational journey. This was followed by a Transition Graduation on Tuesday, December 16th.

"It was a special moment celebrating our future students as they take their first steps into school life," Mr Lloyd said. "We look forward to welcoming them back as Kindergarten students in 2026."

A Primary Celebration Day Assembly was also held to farewell Year 6 students, with each receiving a graduation certificate marking the completion of their primary education.

"While it is a farewell to their primary years, many of these students will continue on with us into secondary school, which is something we are proud to offer as a central school," Mr Lloyd said.

At the assembly, Indigo-Grace Atkin and Hugh Kliendienst, currently in Year 5, were announced as Guyra Central School Captains for 2026.

"We wish them every success as they take on their leadership roles next year," Mr Lloyd said.

Mr Lloyd said staff and the wider community felt privileged to witness students grow from their earliest days in the Transition program through to becoming confident young adults ready to graduate from Year 12.

"I would like to congratulate all our students and staff on a year filled with growth, dedication and outstanding achievements," he said. "We look forward to continuing this journey together in the years ahead."

Update on water quality issues

Guyra's ongoing water quality issues have taken an important step toward a permanent solution, with Armidale Regional Council confirming that specialist consultants have been engaged to investigate ozone water treatment — a key missing element in Guyra's treatment system.

Councillor Eli Imad said water safety remains Council's top priority, with more than $1 million invested in upgrades over the past 12 months and further funding planned.

Once all current and scheduled works are completed, Council's total investment in Guyra's water infrastructure is expected to be in the order of $5–6 million.

"This is not something that can be fixed overnight, but it is a major step in the right direction," Cr Imad said.

"Ozone treatment is widely used to tackle algae, taste and odour issues and to improve drinking water safety."

Several major upgrades are already in place or underway, including a fully automated powdered activated carbon (PAC) dosing system and a destratification bubble flume system, both of which significantly improve Council's ability to manage algae events.

Council is also planning to upgrade raw water pumping capacity, which is essential to support modern treatment processes such as ozone and ultraviolet disinfection.

Over the longer term, Guyra is planned to receive a modern advanced treatment system incorporating ozone, granular activated carbon and UV disinfection, housed in a new purpose-built facility with full automation and solar-supported power.

Cr Imad visited Malpas and Guyra Dams last week to see the conditions first-hand

Kids keen to learn sewing

The first course held at the New England Community College (NECC) in Guyra for 2026 was a Kids Sewing workshop on January 6th and 7th.

The enthusiastic group of children learned how to make their own bags using donated fabric, while developing valuable skills including operating a sewing machine and using an overlocker.

The students showed great eagerness to learn and a strong interest in sewing. A special thank you goes to Tim Bell for generously giving his time to assist in the classroom, his help was very much appreciated.

Robin Godlonton oversaw the class and said it was wonderful to see such a keen group, wanting to learn to sew.

PLC Principal's Tour and Scholarship Day

PLC Armidale continues to set the benchmark for academic excellence in the New England North West, with outstanding outcomes across both NAPLAN and the 2025 Higher School Certificate (HSC), reinforcing its reputation as one of the region's—and state's—leading schools.

In the 2025 HSC, 46 per cent of PLC Armidale students achieved an ATAR above 85, with 27 per cent above 90 and 19 per cent above 95, and the College's Joint Dux, Amelie van der Werf, achieved the highest ATAR in the region (99.1). PLC Armidale was ranked 69th in NSW on The Daily Telegraph list of high-performing schools and was the highest-ranked school in northern NSW.

Recently released 2025 NAPLAN data on the ACARA MySchool website confirms that PLC Armidale is the strongest-performing school overall in the region, with students achieving results above the national average and those of similar backgrounds across most tested areas in Years 3, 5, 7, and 9.

Principal Mrs Nicola Taylor said the results reflect a consistent, personalised approach to learning.

"These outcomes are the result of academic rigour, strong pastoral care and a culture where every girl is known, supported and challenged to do her best," Mrs Taylor said.

Head of Senior School Mrs Kate Clynych said success across academic, creative, sport, outdoor challenge and vocational pathways demonstrated the breadth of opportunity available to students, supported by expert teaching and small class sizes.

Families are invited to experience the PLC Armidale advantage firsthand at the Principal's Tour and Senior School 2025 Scholarship Examination on Thursday, 19 February 2026. The day offers an opportunity to tour the College's 17-hectare campus, meet staff and students, and learn more about academic pathways, boarding, the five-year bespoke Explore Serve Journey outdoor education program and scholarship opportunities.

With a long tradition of educating young women to lead lives of significance, PLC Armidale offers a nurturing all-girls environment where academic excellence and personal growth go hand in hand.

Gun laws

In the days leading up to Christmas, Premier Chris Minns recalled Parliament to make unnecessary changes to firearms laws in NSW. I voted against these changes, as did the rest of the NSW Nationals.

The Government played politics as it combined the firearm provisions in a single bill which contains anti-protest provisions. Farmers, professional and sporting shooters, gun clubs and regional businesses already operate under some of the strictest gun laws in the world. In regional NSW, firearms are essential tools for biosecurity, animal welfare and livelihoods.

People in regional NSW expect governments to respond to tragedy with honesty, restraint and clear thinking. While grief and accountability matter, rushed policy designed to deflect from government failure does not.

Responding to terrorism by targeting law-abiding firearm owners undermines public trust and does not improve safety.

The changes to the gun laws were not required and penalised lawful firearm users for an act of terrorism.

Lamb and Potato Festival

Guyra's Lamb and Potato Festival begins today and continues for 12 days.

I encourage the local community to get behind this important event to see what the region has to offer.

Portfolios

NSW Opposition Leader Kelly Sloane unveiled a new Shadow Cabinet last week and I am pleased to be taking on the Shadow Minister for Agriculture and Prevention of Regional Crime portfolios. These portfolios give me an opportunity to continue delivering for the Northern Tablelands by leading important discussions around two areas which are fundamental to the electorate.

In terms of regional crime, the issue goes beyond the regional crime rises above the usual argy-bargy of politics, and I intend to keep working constructively with the Attorney General and others to ensure it remains firmly on the agenda. There is so much more that can be done in this space. While our opposition crime bill was ultimately defeated, it contained many strong measures, and my job is to keep prosecuting those ideas, particularly around giving victims a greater voice and tightening bail conditions.

On agriculture, it's the old saying: when farmers are doing well, small businesses in town do well too. It's a significant challenge and a portfolio everyone in The Nationals wants, and I'm genuinely looking forward to it. I've already reached out to NSW Farmers to start identifying where we can make real improvements.

Water update

Council is pleased to share that water quality in Guyra's dams has improved. The orange colour in the bottom dam is gone, and the green colour in the top dam is much lighter. Currently, there are no noticeable accumulations of dense green algae present. Our team is keeping a close watch on the dams since algae can reappear rapidly. The water levels in both dams are nearly at capacity.

At the water treatment plant, things have improved a lot over the past two weeks. The water coming out of the plant is clear, and there have been no taste or smell issues for the last three to four days.

Council is also working with NSW water regulator Department of Climate Change, Energy, the Environment and Water (DCCEEW) to improve treatment and deal with manganese in the water. This year, important upgrades will take place which includes installation of a new automated Powder Activated Carbon (PAC) system for better water treatment to combat taste and odour. In February, we'll start the tender for a new unit to mix water in the bottom dam and have it installed by December. We're also looking into options for an ozone system in Guyra. We'll service or replace the raw water pumps so they can handle future demand and systems like ozone and UV.

Longterm, Council plans to build new treatment systems with ozone and UV technology. It will be fully automated with power supplemented by solar and batteries.

Council is committed to providing safe, clean water for the Guyra community. We'll keep monitoring the dams and share updates with residents.

The next scheduled council meeting is 18 February 2026.

Ryanda Street reconstruction

Preliminary works commenced last week on the reconstruction of Ryanda Street in Guyra. The $1.9 million Ryanda Street Road Reconstruction and Stormwater Drainage Project will include upgrades to footpaths, improved pedestrian crossings, and enhanced connectivity between key areas of the town.

Works include:

- Installation of piped stormwater drainage from South of Urandangie Street to North of Tenterden Street, designed to support future road upgrades towards Urandangie Street.

- Stormwater drainage improvements
- Complete reconstruction of Ryanda Street between Ollera and Tenterden Streets, which will include new kerb and gutter, subsoil drainage, new property accesses
- Creation of 28 angled parking spaces along Ryanda Street next to the sports field.
- A new shared path from Dutton Parade to Ollera Street, alongside the tennis court and sports field – this will ultimately connect to the shared path in front of Guyra High School and supports Council's Active Transport Strategy.

Community dig deep to preserve wetlands

More than 2,640 native seedlings have now been planted at the Little Llangothlin Nature Reserve near Guyra as part of revegetation works being carried out by the NSW Government's Local Land Services, alongside local Aboriginal organisations and community members.

The reserve is the only site of its kind in the Northern Tablelands and is Ramsar listed, providing critical habitat for many native species.

The Highland Wetlands Conservation Project is funded by the Australian Government's Natural Heritage Trust and delivered by Northern Tablelands Local Land Services, a member of the Commonwealth Regional Delivery Partners panel.

Since the project began in 2023, 1,560 New England Peppermint (Eucalyptus nova-anglica) seedlings have been planted, with another 720 seedlings to be planted by 30 June 2027.

"The wetlands provide an important ecosystem for a diverse range of native, including threatened, plant and animal species," said Anya Salmon, Senior Land Services Officer, Northern Tablelands Local Land Services.

"They also provide refuge during drought for waterbirds such as the Pacific black duck, grey teal, Australasian bittern, Australasian shoveler, blue-billed duck, magpie geese, Eurasian coot and white-faced heron," she said.

Key to the project's success is the partnership with NSW National Parks and Wildlife Service, which is assisting with site preparation, along with the Guyra Local Aboriginal Land Council and Banbai Rangers, who are supporting the planting program.

"A highlight this year was having Banbai Junior Rangers and students from Guyra Central School helping at each planting session," Ms Salmon said.

"They applied themselves fully to the task, learned valuable skills and got to spend time on Country. They were a pleasure to have around and we hope they're able to be involved in remaining planting activities."

To support seedling survival, plantings are being monitored throughout the project, which runs until 30 June 2028.

Revegetation works are just one component of the project, alongside Bell's turtle preservation, water quality and plant surveys, and invasive weed and pest animal control activities.

OPINION: Silencing ratepayers will destroy local democracy

Across New South Wales, a quiet but serious change has taken place in how local councils operate. Under amendments to the Model Code of Meeting Practice, ratepayers are now barred from speaking during council meetings, even when decisions directly affect their lives, properties, and communities.

This is not a minor procedural tweak. It strikes at the heart of local democracy.

Ratepayers fund councils. They live with the outcomes of council decisions every day. Being present in the chamber - able to speak while issues are debated and decisions made - is not a disruption. It is transparency in action.

Supporters of the changes argue that councils can still hold public forums before meetings. But separating public input from the actual debate removes immediacy and accountability. It turns community engagement into a box-ticking exercise, safely distanced from where power is exercised.

Worse, the changes rest on an unfair assumption: that community participation is inherently disorderly. Councils already have powers to manage meetings and deal with genuinely abusive behaviour. Silencing everyone to manage a handful of bad actors is neither proportionate nor democratic.

Representative ratepayer groups exist to streamline engagement—not inflame it. Excluding these voices does not reduce tension; it fuels frustration and mistrust. When people feel shut out, confidence in local government erodes.

This issue has been formally raised with Ron Hoenig, Minister for Local Government, by Save and Grow Guyra Ratepayers Inc, calling for the government to reconsider these changes and to consult genuinely with the communities affected.

Local government works best when it is open, accountable, and connected to the people it serves. Restricting ratepayer participation moves us in the opposite direction.

If councils are meant to be the most accessible level of government, then shutting the public out of the room where decisions are made is a step too far.

Australia Day Ambassador announced

Celebrated French-born chef David Bitton will visit Guyra as part of his role as an Australia Day Ambassador (ADA) for the Armidale region, bringing with him a powerful story of resilience, gratitude and community spirit.

For David, the ambassador role is a great honour, with 2026 marking his 11th year representing the Australia Day Ambassador Program.

David proudly celebrates the resilience, diversity and generosity that have shaped his journey and continue to inspire communities across Australia. His story is one that reflects the opportunities this country offers and the values it upholds.

Arriving in Australia from France on Anzac Day in 1991 with just two suitcases and one thousand dollars, David embraced his new home with determination and optimism. He quickly built a life that exemplifies the very best of Australian values—hard work, generosity and a strong sense of community.

David's culinary career began in some of Australia's most prestigious establishments, including the Ritz-Carlton, Hayman Island, The Windsor Hotel and Sheraton on the Park, where he became Head Chef and cooked for royalty, premiers and international icons. It was during this time that he met his wife and business partner, Sohani, who has been by his side for more than 35 years.

In 2000, David and Sohani opened a small six-table café in Alexandria, which they grew over 25 years into the much-loved Bitton Alexandria, renowned for its quality, warmth and strong community connection. In 2025, David announced the sale of the flagship venue, marking a proud milestone and closing an important chapter in their journey.

The Bitton legacy continues through Bitton Rose Bay, now led by David and his daughter, and through the Bitton gourmet product range, which is stocked nationally, including in Woolworths, ensuring the Bitton name remains firmly part of Australia's food landscape.

Beyond his restaurants, David's work has extended into consulting, teaching, industry collaborations and international product launches. In recognition of his contribution to hospitality and cultural connection, he was honoured in 2025 with the Culinary and Gastronomy Award at the French Australian Excellence Awards.

A passionate supporter of charitable causes, David has long been a leading contributor to major fundraising efforts for organisations such as the Mental Wheels Foundation, Lifehouse, and Ronald McDonald House. His commitment to giving back is driven by deep compassion and a genuine desire to make a meaningful difference in the lives of others.

Rural Market Reports

Guyra Sheep and Lamb

Guyra yarded a total of 1,521 head at the January 6th sale, comprising 705 lambs and 816 sheep, with strong competition evident across most categories, particularly for heavier and well-finished stock.

Lambs were well supplied, with crossbred lambs (214 head) selling to a top of $310 and averaging $212.62. Heavy lambs were very strong, while lighter lines eased back to trade values. Merino lambs (311 head) reached $230 and averaged $135.68, with solid demand for heavy weights but softer competition for lighter lambs. Exotic lambs (180 head) topped at $262, averaging $156.84, with premiums paid for heavier lambs and easing prices for lighter types.

The hogget yarding (64 head) sold to $202, averaging $161.47, with stronger competition for heavier hoggets and lighter weights easing. Wethers (301 head) sold exceptionally well, reaching $284 and averaging $204.56, with heavy wethers attracting strong buyer interest.

Ewes saw mixed results. Crossbred ewes (53 head) topped at $220, averaging $192.49, with moderate competition and better returns for heavier ewes. Merino ewes (325 head) sold to $229, averaging $153.81, with strong demand for prime Merinos and lighter types easing. Exotic ewes (48 head) reached $234, averaging $211.17, with good demand for quality lines and steady prices overall.

A small yarding of rams was offered, with crossbred rams (7 head) selling to $140, while Merino rams (37 head) reached $184 and averaged $176.22, with stronger demand for prime rams. Ram lambs (24 head) sold to $180, averaging $171.88, with limited supply supporting a steady trade.
